

Bio

Age: 37

Work: Project Manager

Family: married with two kids

Location: Greenwich, CT

Jack's situation: Jack's 9-year-old son was diagnosed with acute lymphoblastic leukemia two years ago. Jack and his wife are overwhelmed by uncertainty and worry.

Pain Points

- Keeping track of changing treatment options is overwhelming
- Dealing with side effects after treatment
- Have no idea what is coming or how to plan for making his child an independent person

Needs

- To find information about available treatments for cancer
- To find summer camps that fit his son's health needs
- To deal with cancer treatment lingering side effects

“

We have struggled with getting our son to be physically active after treatment. He was on chemo for a long time. He lacks confidence and is so far behind in skills compared to other children in his age. Advice and resources on this would be helpful.”

Jack, 37, Connecticut